

Sabrina Beh

RN, BSc Nursing

*Associate Director of Project Management,
ECRI, Asia Pacific*

Sabrina Beh is an experienced healthcare professional and consultant with over 35 years of nursing experience, supported by a strong clinical foundation and extensive expertise in healthcare technology planning, project management, and quality and patient safety initiatives. She holds a Bachelor of Nursing from Monash University, Australia, and is a Registered Nurse with the Malaysian Nursing Board.

She currently serves as Associate Director of the Project Management at ECRI, Asia Pacific, and has supported multidisciplinary healthcare projects across Malaysia, Singapore, Thailand, Indonesia, Philippines, and Hong Kong. Her career progressed from perioperative nursing to senior leadership roles, including Chief Nursing Officer, providing her with a deep understanding of clinical operations, governance, and operational readiness.

Sabrina brings expertise in medical equipment and hospital technology planning, perioperative and infection control best practices, regulatory coordination, and commissioning, working collaboratively with stakeholders to ensure patient safety, quality of care, functional alignment, infrastructure integration, cost-effective planning, and procurement readiness.

She is an ISQua-certified Quality Improvement & Patient Safety Specialist and has contributed to the development of hospital policies, performance indicators, and quality frameworks. Sabrina has also shared her professional experience internationally as a speaker at healthcare and nursing education programmes across Asia.

As an approved TEMOS consultant, she provides guidance to hospitals on service optimization, staff development, and operational excellence. Fluent in English, Malay, and Mandarin, and with a developing proficiency in Greek, she effectively supports accreditation processes, enhances patient care, and helps healthcare organizations implement best practices efficiently.
